NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

General Sherman's Condition Very Critical.

EARLY ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

Latest Reports From the Sick Man's Family are That He is Sinking Rapidly, and Death is Expected at any Moment.

New York, Feb. 12.—At the residence of Gen. Sherman in the early evening there was some rays of sunshine which the clouds hanging over the old warrior's head. At this time the hopes of the relatives and friends for his life were still considered precarious. The general was still in bed, but he had been able to get up and walk about the room during the day. The general was still in bed, but he had been able to get up and walk about the room during the day.

The improvement began at noon, and at 4 o'clock the members of the family and several friends who were admitted to the sick chamber. At times the general was peacefully as a child, but at other times he sank into an unconscious state, not deep from which he could be easily aroused by those about him.

During the day two telegrams were received from President Harrison inquiring after the general's condition. These and other telegrams received have been sent to the press.

At 6 o'clock in the evening Gen. Sherman was still in the following condition: "Family far more hopeful. Some slight evidence of reviving strength."

Gen. Sherman was one of the callers at the West Twenty-first street house during the afternoon. He entered the sick room about 3 o'clock, and was greeted by Gen. Sherman with, "Hello, wing, is that you?"

A little later he said to his son: "This is very temporary. I will be all right." Gen. Sherman in speaking of Gen. Sherman said: "The feeling is very hopeful. There is no decided improvement in the symptoms and condition, but he is not as low as he was in the morning."

IS IT A CONSPIRACY?

The Great Whisky Trust in a Bad Light.

SECRETARY GIBSON ARRESTED.

He is Charged With Conspiring to Blow Up All the Distilleries in the Country Not Belonging to the Trust—Shufeldt's Chicago Distillery the First One Seized.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—George J. Gibson, secretary of the great whisky trust, was arrested at the Grand Pacific hotel at 6:30 yesterday morning on a charge of conspiracy to blow up all the distilleries in the country not belonging to the trust. Mr. Gibson lives at Peoria, and it is said that he came here for the express purpose of wrecking the Shufeldt distillery in this city. Several attempts have been made to blow up the Shufeldt plant, in one of which young Kinzie, of Cronin murder fame, was involved.

It is said that Mr. Gibson tried to bribe a government inspector to blow up the Shufeldt distillery and this led to his arrest as he alighted from a carriage in front of the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday morning. In a small satchel carried by Mr. Gibson was found a number of articles which are said to be positive evidence of his connection with the conspiracy. Mr. Gibson was taken to the United States marshal's office in the government building.

Mr. Gibson's wife and daughter were with him when he was arrested. At a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Hoyne in the afternoon Mr. Gibson waived examination and was held to the Federal grand jury on $20,000 bail. Later in the day he was released. Nelson Morris, the packer, signing his bond in the sum of $20,000. Gibson was also required to attach his own signature.

The conspiracy was worked up through Revenue Inspector T. S. Dewar, who was told confidentially some months ago that Shufeldt's distillery was in the way of the trust and that there was "big money" for the man who succeeded in getting the concern out of the way. Solicitor Hart, of the internal revenue department, who arrived in the city from Washington to take charge of the case, has in his possession the dynamite machine with which the destruction of the Shufeldt distillery was to be effected, and papers showing the contract for the diabolical business.

The Pacific charge against Gibson is that he tried to bribe Dewar to blow up the Shufeldt plant. All the arrangements had been completed for the fiendish work, when Dewar informed the government officials of the plan and prevented the consummation of the conspiracy.

Inspector Stewart, of the justice department, one of the officers who made the arrest, said yesterday afternoon: "I am not at liberty to give the facts in the case, but there is nothing that your imagination can conceive of more diabolical and horrible than the intention of the conspirators. It was upped just in time, too, for the first blow was to have been struck in Chicago. Then it would have been repeated in other points."

Solicitor General Hart made the following startling statement yesterday evening: "A short time ago we learned that Mr. Gibson was in correspondence with our gangster, G. S. Dewar. I came on here, and Dewar revealed to me the proposition made to him by Gibson. Gibson told him that the trust could get a foothold in Chicago as long as the Shufeldts were located here. The obnoxious distillery must be removed."

"Gibson had a perfectly safe plan, he said. Dewar was to get $10,000 cash and $15,000 later, to introduce into the big spirit tank of the distillery, containing thousands of gallons of high spirits, an infernal machine that was fixed to explode at a certain time. The explosion would free the spirits and throw the distillery into a mass of flames. Dewar was led to believe that the machine would give him time to get out of the place alive. But it would not do to let him live. Dewar was to be killed by the explosion, which was to occur one second after he dropped the machine into the vat. One hundred and fifty people who are at work in the place day and night would have been killed."

"The Shufeldts will lose nothing," said Gibson, "because their property is well insured. The government owns the most of it."

"Dewar kept up posted and helped to carry the plan to the point, as it turned out today. The trap was to be sprung before Sunday. Gils had the infernal machine here. We have it now in the possession. Our confidence in the gangster was never shaken. He fairly trembled when he was informed that he never would have lived to claim his reward. Our proof, I am sorry to say, is most absolute. The chain of evidence against Mr. Gibson is the strongest ever formed. The officials at Peoria, too, are perfectly satisfied over the dastardly nature of the conspiracy."

"Who is supposed to be connected with Gibson in this matter?" Mr. Hart was asked.

"We cannot specify now. It is not to be supposed that the secretary of the whisky trust was acting independently in the matter."

Mr. Hart says that, just at present, there will be no more arrests in the case, for although they are certain that there are some lack of Gibson, yet they have to evidence that they can bring against him. The offense with which Gibson is at present charged, is punishable with not more than three years in the penitentiary. But it is thought from the startling details of the plot that a good case of conspiracy to commit murder can be brought against the secretary of the trust. This would send him to the penitentiary.

Thomas Lynch, one of the proprietors of the Shufeldt distillery, in an interview said: "I am sure the last attempted

WAR AGAINST THE CANALS.

A Bill Introduced Relative to the Sale of All Canal Lands in the State—A Ship Canal is One of the Subjects Discussed in the House—Other State News.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—The war against canals was begun in the senate yesterday by the introduction of Senator Howell's bill relative to the sale of all canal properties in the state. The bill abolishes the present canal commission and provides for an appointment of a non-partisan board of four by the governor, to exist until suitable disposition is made of all the canals.

The plan for selling or disposing of canal property is detailed. The board must advertise the sale in not less than ten or more than fifteen papers in the state. The property shall be appraised by the board and it cannot be sold for less than the appraised value and must be sold to the highest bidder. The terms of the sale must be one-fourth cash, one-fourth in one year, one-fourth in two years and one-fourth in three years. Each bidder shall send in his bid sealed accompanied by a check of 10 per cent. of the bid as a guarantee. When a proposition is made to lease it must be accompanied with a check for 25 per cent. of the offer. No lease shall be given for less than twenty years and at the expiration of the lease the property shall revert to the state.

The practicability of a ship canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river was the subject of discussion by the house. Mr. Wiggins' resolution requesting the general government to make an estimate and survey of the Ohio canal from the city of Portsmouth to Cleveland and report the cost of a canal which would pass steamers brought out considerable discussion. The amendments were accepted and the resolutions adopted.

There was a wordy war between two Republican members of the house just before adjournment. The school boys' question engaged the attention of the members all afternoon. It was brought out by Mr. Spencer calling up his bill providing for another commission.

Mr. Monnot, of Stark, offered his bill as a substitute, and made a vigorous speech in its support.

Mr. Hudson, of Clinton, opposed the substitute, and spoke for the bill which he thought should be tried. He believed it was less complicated than the Geyer bill.

Mr. Drexler was the cause of the sensational scene which followed, by calling the attention of the house to the construction of Mr. Spencer's remarks which he (Drexler) had placed upon them.

Mr. Wiggins secured the floor and scored Mr. Spencer, and branded the latter's supposed statements as false.

Mr. Spencer availed with much impatience to secure the floor, when he emphatically denounced Mr. Wiggins' statements attributed to him as infamously false.

Mr. Hudson avoided further talk by demanding the previous question. The substitute of Mr. Monnot was lost by a vote of 47 yeas to 21 nays, and the Spencer bill passed by a vote of 41 yeas to 26 nays.

The National Woman's Relief Corps, an auxiliary to the Grand Army, having established their National Relief Corps home for army nurses, mothers and widows of Union soldiers who are indigent, at Madison, Lake county, Representative Clapp recently introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $25,000 to build for them an Ohio cottage there. The measure was passed yesterday by the house without a dissenting vote.

Mr. Griffin's house bill, providing that railroads shall not charge over $1 per car for switching, passed the senate yesterday by a vote of 15 yeas to 10 nays. It was opposed by railroads generally.

Senator Cron's bill, providing for 6 per cent. legal rate straight in Ohio, was defeated in the senate.

The committee on credentials made a further report, saying two more delegates from the Pittsburgh district with the privilege of a voice in the proceedings but no vote. Several committees were announced.

A telegram reading as follows was received from Lucian A. Hall, of New York: "Have collected about $500 held subject to the wishes of the convention, with heartiest sympathy for down-trodden miners."

It was resolved to appropriate $500 of this sum for the relief of miners in Alabama and $200 for miners at Wilkesburg, Pa. A recess was taken to allow the committee time to organize and transact business.

At the afternoon session, Congressman J. J. Jones addressed the convention. He has recently introduced a bill in congress providing that the government shall appoint mine inspectors. His address treated of the advantages which would accrue from such legislation. The convention adopted a resolution asking congress to pass the Jones bill.

The women are sisters, and say their father, Samuel Ratchell, who is in his 70th year and resides at Leipzig, O., claims Lord Ratchell as his great grandfather, and says he is the only living relation, so far as he can learn, between himself and the British lord. The Coroner's Investigation Discovers Nothing New—The Murderer is Taken to See His Victim.

The coroner's investigation of the McKley murder was continued all Wednesday afternoon, and adjourned until this afternoon to resume inquiries. The girls of the Bellefontaine avenue house, together with the prosecuting attorney, Crissinger, assured us that no new evidence was adduced, being substantially as the Star had stated on the day of the murder. The coroner will probably reach a verdict this evening or Friday, and there is no doubt of it being in substance that the girl came to her death at the hands of the husband. The two young girl inmates of the Holsapple house were placed under $500 bonds to appear before the grand jury as witnesses, and Holsapple and wife went on the bonds. John M. Swift, of Dayton, and W. E. Seofield, of this city, have been retained as McKley's attorneys.

The funeral of the murdered woman occurred this forenoon. McKley, at his own request, was taken out to view the remains at the house. He looked listlessly at the gaily features, but made no particular demonstrations of grief. He, however, expressed the wish that the woman's rings be placed upon her hand and buried with her. He does not converse on the subject.

A BIT OF MEKLEY'S HISTORY.

A dispatch from Dayton Tuesday says of the murder:

"The topic of conversation here today is the murder of Belle McKley, of this city by her husband, also of this city, at Marion last night. Joe McKley, who is charged with the murder of his wife, is the youngest son of Andrew McKley of this city. He was a blacksmith and later a saloon-keeper here. He was called the 'black sheep' of his father's flock. Last summer he went to Columbus and married Belle Fields and they lived here peacefully awhile. He soon learned that his wife had been an inmate of a bawdy house in this city for several years and they separated a short time ago. McKley went to Cincinnati and his wife to Marion with Kate Holsapple, who moved from here to start a divorce there. McKley's brother, who has just returned from Marion, says that Joe went to Marion to see his wife about signing a deed for some property and they quarreled."

WILL TAKE A JAUNT.

The Marion Teachers Will Visit The Toledo Schools.

The board of education of the Marion public schools has granted the thirty-three teachers a day off, which they will occupy by a trip to the Toledo schools. This has been contemplated for some time, but the decision of a place was not made.

The excursion will be taken Friday, Feb. 20. The C. O. V. and T. road has agreed to provide a special coach for the party, and will give a rate of one fare for the round trip. They will probably leave on Thursday evening. The superintendent and the board of education of the Toledo schools have sent a cordial invitation to the teachers, with the assurance that all efforts will be made to make the visit a pleasant and profitable one.

The trip will be made for profit and the purpose of getting new ideas in the way of teaching, and at the same time the party get a rest from labor.

—Mrs. Matron, of north East street, has been quite sick of late.

—Jacob Holmstrom, on east Center street, is confined to his home.

—F. R. Carver and wife are in the hospital to their home, with fever.

—The little daughter of J. Anthony on east Center street, is sick with fever.

—Jacob Berger, on north Greenwood, is recovering from a serious attack of sickness.

—J. C. Anthony went to Van Wert again Wednesday to attend the Roadhouse murder trial.

—Mr. H. Eugene Hall, of the Lima Business College, Lima, O., visited friends here on Tuesday and attended the Abbie Carrington concert in the evening.

—Miss Lydia Braun, of Saginaw, Mich., who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Denny, on Bellefontaine avenue and friends in vicinity, returned home today.

—The horse driven to the factory wagon caught its foot in crossing the big Four tracks on Mill street, Wednesday evening, and it took some time and trouble to relieve it. Fortunately no train happened along at that hour.

—The funeral of George Hochstetter was largely attended this forenoon. A number of Odd Fellows were present from deceased's former home at M. Gilead, besides others from surrounding towns. The services were held at the U. B. church, conducted by Rev. Wallace.

—J. L. McClinton, husband of the mourned Dimpie Monnett, was at Upper Sandusky Wednesday to correct some newspaper reports that were in circulation in that city. The statements, however, were taken from the Columbus Dispatch, and were chargeable to Marion correspondents of that paper. Nevertheless the Union of that place very generously corrected their article from information secured from an interview with Mr. McClinton, and stated the discreditable reports to be wholly without truth.

Card of Thanks.

To our neighbors and friends who desire to express our warmest thanks for the kindness and assistance given us at the death and funeral of our beloved daughter Dimpie.

Everything quiet over in this corner since my last.

Revel services are being held in two of the churches in this place. The Adventists are conducting a series of meetings in the Universalist church, and the United Brethren are stirring the fort in their church on Main street.

I understand the M. E. church at Canaan propose opening a protracted meeting this week. Take it all in all, Satan will have a hard time of it in this locality, for a few days at least.

The M. E. church of this place will give a "box" social in Underwood's hall, on Saturday evening, Feb. 11.

Mrs. Dr. Hahn is recovering from a serious spell of sickness. Otherwise the health of the community is good.

We notice Postmaster Dodge again behind the boxes, selling portraits of the father of his country at two cents apiece.

Levi Gaertt was attacked with a severe stroke of valvular trouble of the heart on Friday, the 6th. Mr. Gaertt is subject to these attacks, but this last stroke was more serious than any heretofore experienced by him, and it was thought for some time that it would prove fatal. He rallied, however, and at the present writing is feeling very well with a good prospect for recovery.

Father John McCafferty was made happy this week upon receiving fifty dollars cash and ten dollars per month hereafter from the surplus in the treasury in the way of a pension. Although a Democrat with southern principles, I feel that it is right to these old boys that stood by the country in time of peril, to be rewarded in a substantial manner, and if there is any danger of the surplus running out we can soon raise up another McKinley.

The festive chain and cooking attendances are among us now and you can see the butter milk fly and smell a boiled dinner at almost any time and place.

Several of our Odd Fellows made a trip to Marion Saturday, Feb. 7th, to witness work in the lodge room in that city. They report a pleasant and enjoyable time.

C. W. Doney will remove back to town from his farm in the spring and take his position again in the drug store, dispensing physic.

A. J. Graham, who has held a position for the past year with Doney Brothers, intends leaving here in the spring for other quarters. May stress go with you, John.

Scott Kamer will take a trip over the road Saturday the 10th, to post himself on the different points, preparatory to reentering Father Sam's hands about the track. Have a nice sport, my boy, that it is only the man that has no other ambition.

As you have satisfied me as to your financial standing, and back account, lock out or me to the station and I will now subscribe myself.

LITERARY LIGHTS.

The Pall Mall Budget speaks of George W. Smalley, The New York Tribune correspondent, as "The prince of go-sips."

Rudyard Kipling is rather shy in manner and somewhat self-conscious. He wears a pair of spectacles with divided lens and has a peculiar look. He is 35 years old.

The venerable James Parton works six hours a day at his home in New Yorkport. His desk is his place of rest and recreation, for that is what literary occupation means to him.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich refused to write Christmas or Thanksgiving cards, averring that his muse cannot be resorted to time and again. Reaction must be spontaneous, unforced, free.

Whittier is fond of cats. He has three handsome dogs, two cats and three fine horses. When the poet goes abroad in pleasant weather a young St. Bernard dog is his constant companion.

W. Clarke Russell, whose sea stories have such remarkable dash, brevity and ease of door freedom, has long been a hopeless and well known helpless invalid, chained to an interior existence in an inland town.

George Meredith, the English poet and novelist, is of very delicate constitution, so that he has to maintain a personal, although he speaks with a rather unpleasant drawl.

HIGHLY ENTERTAINED

The Marion Literary Society Gave a Ghost Dance at City Hall

City Hall was full, virtually full, Wednesday evening, with an audience attracted by the announced entertainment to be given by the Marion Chapel Literary Society. It was a representative audience, too, state-men, attorneys, doctors, teachers and undertakers being present.

There was some disappointment in the beginning by the announcement that David Archer, who was on for debate, was absent. Sergeant-at-arms Bruce Payton, who had departed the previous night, was dispatched with the speed of a messenger boy for the absentee, and the time was filled in with plantation songs by the choir. Bruce usually returned, but without the veteran debater, who could not be found.

The subject for discussion, which is too lengthy to state here, was handled by Nelson Young, the present scintillating president of the society, and A. J. McMichael, the musician and orator. The subject was not one to bring out the full force of these speakers, but McMichael, who had the affirmative, warmed up to the question and occasionally shed beads of oratorical perspiration. But Young's coolness was against him, and there was a suspicion among the audience that he had bribed the judges, too. Anyway, the question was settled in favor of the negative.

The remainder of the program was musical and literary. Again there was disappointment, that Cooper's quartet did not appear, one of the artists suffering with a traditional bad cold. Manager Wheatly's absence was also regretted. But laying all these disappointments aside the entertainment was well received, with shouts of applause throughout sufficient to awake the natives.

Mechanics' Library Election.

The election of officers of the Mechanics' Library Association occurred Tuesday evening. The election was well attended and enthusiastic, which is a gratifying beginning of a new year in the history of the Association. Following is the list of officers elected, and they are all good ones:

E. H. Kaffensperger, president; Philip Dombaug, vice president; Henry B. Hane, secretary; Frank A. Huber, treasurer; T. H. B. Beale, Edward Huber, Michael Clary, W. B. Jenson and John J. Crawley, directors. The board will meet next Tuesday evening for organization and transaction of business.

WHAT DO THE COOKS SAY?

Who dares deny that Marion ladies are not possessed of the requisite amount of brains and ability? Marion markets can furnish the material, The Marion Gas Co. the fuel and Cunningham & Stowe (226 East Center Street) can furnish the only gas stove manufactured that will, with the same care and attention, equal gasoline.

THE VAN WIE GAS STOVE!

Used by Mrs. Ewing during her course of lessons in Marion will be sold to the first first comer at cost. Don't all come at once.

The ladies who failed to witness the stove in operation can examine it at leisure and at the same time witness the elegant display of
